

Did you know that some areas in Philly are 22 degrees hotter than others during the summer?

Last summer, Philly had its first heat health emergency in June, so we want to make sure you and your communities are prepared early this year. See below for a list of summer programming to help communities prepare for and stay safe during extreme heat events.

Join PDPH on the following dates and times for virtual information sessions:

Heat Safety for Trusted Messengers

Offering live interpretation in Spanish, this training is for community leaders, service providers, and educators to learn how to keep clients and neighbors safe.

Heat Safety for Block Captains

This training is for block captains interested in learning how to keep their neighbors safe this summer.

Heat Safety for All Philadelphians

Offering live interpretation in ASL, Arabic, French, Haitian Creole, Mandarin, Portuguese, Spanish, and Vietnamese, this training is for the general public to learn how to keep their family and neighbors safe.

Reach out - we're here to help!

- We translate all our brochures, newsletters and flyers, and we offer interpretation for our trainings.
- We canvass door to door, table at community events, offer trainings, and share educational materials.

Resource Tables

We can table at your next community event or gathering.

Request a resource table here.

Trainings (Virtual/In-Person)

We can come to your location, and we tailor our trainings to the groups we work with.

Request a training here.

Free Printed Materials

(in color and multiple languages)

To order, visit bit.ly/PHPMaterials.

Check out our Summer 2025 Newsletter!

We hope to hear from you soon!